

Speaker: Alexander Strauch

* We will be showing this 4 session video series on Sunday evenings, during the Month of June.

After our Lord's resurrection, he gave to his disciples the Great Commission (Matt. 28:16-20). This should be the mission statement for every local church. We may recast it in pithy or clever statements, but the charge has remained the same for over two thousand years. We have all been given a global mission: we are to be internationalists, people who commit to spreading the message of Christ's death and resurrection to the whole world.

The charge is to all Christians everywhere, what we call the universal body of Christ. But it's the local church who carries this out by evangelizing, making disciples both locally and through its missionaries worldwide, baptizing new converts, and teaching new converts to obey all that Jesus commanded.

This conference will unpack all the important elements of the Great Commission and give many practical suggestions for how a local church and its leaders can become a Great Commission church.